(A Development Stage Company) Note to Financial Statements (U.S. Dollars)

1. BASIS OF PRESENTATION

These unaudited consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States for interim financial information. These financial statement are condensed and do not include all disclosures required for annual financial statements. The organization and business of the Company, accounting policies followed by the Company and other information are contained in the notes to the Company's audited financial statements filed as part of the Company's December 31, 2001 Form 10-SB-12G.

In the opinion of the Company's management, these financial statements reflect all adjustments necessary to present fairly the Company's financial position at March 31, 2002 and the results of operations and cash flows for the three months ended March 31, 2002 and 2001. The results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2002 are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the entire fiscal year.

ITEM 2. MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OR PLAN OF OPERATION

The following discussion contains certain statements that may constitute forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Any statements that refer to expectations, projections or other characterization of future events or circumstances, and especially those which include variations of the words "believes," "intends," "estimates," "anticipates," "expects," "plans," or similar words or variations thereof, are likely to be forward-looking statements, and as such, are likely to concern matters involving risk, uncertainty, unpredictability and other factors that could materially and adversely affect the outcome or results indicated by or inferred from the statements themselves. Therefore, the reader is advised that the following discussion should be considered in light of the discussion of risks and other factors contained in this Form 10QSB and in the Company's other filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and that no statements contained in the following discussion or in this Form 10QSB should be construed as a guarantee or assurance of future performance or future results.

Plan of Operations

As of March 31, 2002, the Company remains in the development stage. It has minimal capital resources presently available to meet its obligations or to continue its efforts to develop its business. As a result, there is substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

The Company's current plan is to continue with efforts to develop its business related to reselling of a product line of miniaturized micro-chips suitable for insertion into inanimate objects or under the skin of animals. The chips are inserted into inanimate objects or under the skin of animals for purposes of positive identification. In order to continue with the development of this business, the Company estimates that it would require approximately $250,000 in the next twelve months to meet overhead (rent, salaries and operational expenses) and to pay expenses connected with marketing (cost of goods sold and purchase of inventory). This includes approximately $50,000 to launch dynamic link relationships with major markets and to produce and circulate brochures and initial advertising announcements, and approximately $200,000 in working capital to cover general overhead and to provide liquidity during the 12-months following launch of its product.

The Company does not currently have the necessary funds available to continue with the development of the proposed micro-chip business, and there is no assurance that it will be able to obtain the necessary funds in the foreseeable future. The Company is considering offering shares of common stock in a private placement offering as a means of raising at least a portion of the required funds, but there is no assurance that such an offering would be successful or that it would allow the Company to raise any significant portion of the funds which are estimated to be required. As a result, there is no assurance that the Company will be in a position to pursue its plans for development of its proposed business related to resale of miniature micro-chips.

As a result of uncertainty related to the development of its miniature micro-chip business, the Company is also considering other business opportunities. One such business opportunity is the acquisition of a 90,000 acre Oil & Gas property located in the Montana Northern Powder River Basin. The Company has engaged a professional geologist to review the property. Based on initial reports, management believes that the property may have lucrative potential. The Company would also require additional capital to acquire this property but it has no current plans in place related to raising such capital.

In addition to continuing its efforts to develop a business or acquire a business opportunity, the Company's plan of operations during the next twelve months also includes continuing to comply with its periodical reporting requirements under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company estimates that it will require a minimum of approximately $5,000 in additional capital during the next twelve months for this purpose. Although the Company has no agreement in place with its shareholders or other persons to provide capital or to pay expenses on its behalf, it is currently anticipated that the Company will rely on loans or additional capital contributions from shareholders to obtain the necessary funds for payment of expenses related to compliance with its reporting obligations.

No revenues were received by the Company during the current period. The Company does not expect to generate any revenue until after it has completed significant further development of its proposed micro-chip business, or until it has completed the acquisition of a business opportunity. As a result, the Company expects that it will incur losses each quarter at least until it has completed a business combination. Depending upon the performance of any acquired business, the Company may continue to operate at a loss even following completion of a business combination.
